it was Christmas eve. Afranio de Mellio Franco, head of the Brazilian delegation and last to sign the declaration before it was presented to tonight's session, declared that "America continues united and vigilant in safeguarding her common interests, in defending her peace, and in efforts toward collaboration."

Later the session adopted by acclamation a peace resolution offered by Mello Franco and modeled on Hull's seven-point program for a world order based on law.

The principles included: That maintenance of peace should be adocated and practiced constantly; that nations should refrain from use of force and from interference in the internal affairs of other nations; that they should seek to adjust international problems through peaceful negotiations; that they uphold the sanctity treaties; that modification of treaties should be by orderly processes, and that each nation should respect the rights of others.

Philippine Bandits Loot Train of $150,000

MANILA, Dec. 24.—Christmas Eve robbers killed two messengers aboard a richly loaded express train tonight and escaped with cash and gold bullion valued at $150,000.

Wielding murderous bolos, long knives capable of easy death thrusts, the robbers hacked and stabbed the baggage messenger to death as the train rumbled toward Manila from Baguio, rich gold mining district.

Then they looted the baggage safe and fled some time before the crime was discovered and reported to constabulary officials, who launched an immediate search for the slavers.

McCarran to Ask Higher Pay for U.S. Workers

May Revive Measure To Make $1,500 Minimum Salary

BACKGROUND-

Several efforts have been made in the past few years to raise the general level of salaries in Government service. Employe organizations are on record for a $1.500 minimum. The last increase was nearly a decade ago. In 1932-33 the employes took cuts of 81/3 per cent and then to 15 per cent. Eventually the regular scale was restored.

By J. A. O'LEARY.

A new fight to raise the wage level of Government employes in the lower and middle brackets will be launched in the Congress that assembles next week, it was made known yesterday as Senator Mc-Carran, Democrat, of Nevada and Senator Bulow. Democrat, of South Dakota announced their intentions to push pay bills.

At the same time, Senator McCarran joined Senator Wheeler, Democrat, of Montana in predicting the new Congress would retrieve some of the power it had "turned over to the Executive under stress of emergency," while at the other end of the Capitol, Chairman Taylor of he House Appropriations Committee announced that reports of unnecessary spending by some Government agencies would be "smoked

Senator McCarron, a close student of Government personnel problems. said he probably will revive the proposal he first made two years ago to fix $1,500 as the minimum for full-time adult employment, with small increases for other groups receiving less than $3.600 a year.

Heretofore the Senator's minimum-wage plan has been interwoven with a comprehensive revision of the present efficiency rating system, but he indicated yesterday, shortly after his return from the West, that he may separate the two questions and offer the salary changes alone. It is believed the pay bill could be expedited if not tied in with general revision of the Classification Act.

Bulow to Offer Bill.

Senator Bulow, who is chairman of the Senate Civil Service Committee No. 24 Engine Company, had been said he probably will reintroretired for two years, a multiple duce his bill to make $1,200 a year leg fracture received when he was the minimum wage in the Government service, and that his present intention is to hold hearings on the whole subject early in the coming session. The $1,200 proposal was brought forward in the last Congress, presumably as an alternative or the McCarran measure. Neither bill got out of committee. Asked what course he will follow f he finds his own pay plan is not likely to win approval, Senator Mc-Carran said: "I will support any reasonable wage schedule in keeping with the increased cost of living." The Senator added that he still Rating May Be Dropped.

The efficiency rating features of the old bill, which are likely to be left out of the minimum-pay bill this winter, would have done away with the uniform system of efficiency rating and sought to establish a more satisfactory system, with provision for mandatory pay adjustment up or down at regular intervals in accordance with the efficiency standing.

In predicting the move by Congress to retrieve some of its powers, Senator McCarran and Senator Wheeler, who broke with the administration on the reorganization and court plans at the last session
